

No Hesitations

A Blog by Francis X. Diebold

Sunday, January 11, 2015

Mostly Harmless Econometrics?

I've had Angrist-Pischke's Mostly Harmless Econometrics: An Empiricist's Companion (MHE) for a while, but I just got around to reading it. (By the way, a lower-level follow-up was just published.)

There's a lot to like about MHE. It's an insightful and fun treatment of micro-econometric regression-based causal effect estimation -- basically how to (try to) tease causal information from least-squares regressions fit to observational micro data. It's filled with wisdom, exploring many subtleties and nuances. In many ways it's written not for students at age 23, but rather for seasoned researchers at age 53. And it tells its story in a marvelously engaging conversational style.

But there's also a lot not to like about MHE. The problem isn't what it includes, but rather what it excludes. Starting with its title and continuing throughout, MHE promotes its corner of applied econometrics as all of applied econometrics, or at least all of the "mostly harmless" part (whatever that means). Hence it effectively condemns much of the rest as "harmful," and sentences it to death by neglect. It gives the silent treatment, for example, to anything structural -- whether micro-econometric or macro-econometric -- and anything involving time series. And in the rare instances when silence is briefly broken, we're treated to gems like "serial correlation [until recently was] Somebody Else's Problem, specifically the unfortunate souls who make their living out of time series data (macroeconomists, for example)" (pp. 315-316).

[Here's a rough parallel. Consider Hansen and Sargent's Recursive Models of Dynamic Linear Economies. It treats structural analysis and econometric estimation of dynamic macroeconomic models, and it naturally contains large doses of time series, state space, optimal filtering, etc. It's also appropriately titled and appropriately pitched. Now imagine that Hansen and Sargent had instead titled it Mostly Harmless Econometrics, declared its contents to be the central part of (the mostly harmless part of) applied econometrics, and pitched it as a general "empiricist's companion". Voilà!]

About the Blog and me

Francis Diebold

View my complete profile

Follow by Twitter

Subscribe To

-  Posts
-  Comments

Pageviews

Browse by Topic

- Academic Life (30)
- ADS Index (3)
- Bayesian (9)
- Behavioral (1)
- Big Data (27)
- Blogging (18)
- Bond Yields (1)
- Books (19)
- Business cycles (7)
- Causal modeling (18)
- Central Banking (2)
- Central Banks (7)
- Classification (1)
- Climatology (4)
- Code (2)
- Cointegration (1)
- Commodities (1)
- Conferences (47)
- Courses (6)
- Crises (2)
- Cross-section econometrics (5)
- Data and Measurement (48)
- Data mining (1)
- e-things (13)
- Econometrics and economic theory (1)
- Econometrics and Statistics (55)
- Econometrics History (15)
- Econometrics Text (8)
- Endogeneity (1)
- Event study (3)
- Expectations (1)
- Factor Structure (5)
- Finance (18)
- Financial Econometrics (26)

All told, Mostly Harmless Econometrics: An Empiricist's Companion is neither "mostly harmless" nor an "empiricist's companion." Rather, it's a companion for a highly-specialized group of applied non-structural micro-econometricians hoping to estimate causal effects using non-experimental data and largely-static, linear, regression-based methods. It's a novel treatment of that sub-sub-sub-area of applied econometrics, but pretending to be anything more is most definitely harmful, particularly to students, who have no way to recognize the charade as a charade.

Posted by Francis Diebold at 6:28 AM

Labels: Causal modeling, Econometrics and Statistics, Macro-econometrics, Rants, Time Series

No comments:

Post a Comment

Enter your comment...

Comment as: Google Account ▾

Publish

Preview

Newer Post

Home

Older Post

Subscribe to: Post Comments \(Atom\)

- Forecast combination (1)
- Forecast evaluation (11)
- Forecasting (71)
- GDPplus (8)
- Graphics (13)
- HAC Estimation (4)
- High Dimensionality (4)
- Humor (7)
- Inflation (1)
- Job Market (1)
- Long Memory (5)
- Machine learning (40)
- Macro and Business Cycles (11)
- Macro-econometrics (13)
- Meteorology (1)
- Misc (7)
- Mixed-Frequency (4)
- Model Selection (4)
- Networks (14)
- Nobel Prize (6)
- Nonlinearity (12)
- Nonparametrics (10)
- Nowcasting (5)
- Obituaries (16)
- Papers (6)
- People (22)
- Policy (5)
- Publishing (8)
- Rants (15)
- Real Time (3)
- Regime switching (2)
- Regularization (2)
- Regulation (1)
- Replication (3)
- Research Groups (3)
- Robust (3)
- Seasonality (5)
- Seminars (5)
- Smoothing (1)
- Societies (2)
- Structural Change (5)
- Student Advice (6)
- Surveys (1)
- Teaching (3)
- Tern Structure (5)
- Theory (2)
- Time Series (9)
- Time-series econometrics (16)
- Time-Varying Parameters (2)
- Trend (2)
- Vector Autoregression (6)
- Volatility and Risk (24)
- Writing (14)
- Yield Curves (13)

Big Hits and Fazed Cookies

Mostly Harmless Econometrics?

I've had Angrist-Pischke's Mostly Harmless Econometrics: An Empiricist's Companion (MHE) for a while, but I just got around to...

Econometrics: Angrist and Pischke are at it Again

Check out the new Angrist-Pischke (AP), "Undergraduate Econometrics Instruction: Through Our Classes, Darkly". I guess I have ...

Time-Varying Dynamic Factor Loadings

Check out Mikkelsen et al. (2015). I've always wanted to try high-dimensional